Profanity of Preachers.

In the meeting of Methor let ministers held on Modusy morning one of their number was very justly rebuked by others for such use of words - as savored strongly of profane swearing. Reverence is one of the most obvious duties of a minister of God, and we trust the rebuke will have a good offect, not on this offending brother only, but on all who like him take the name of God in vain, even when they do not so intend.

But the flagrant instance of minis terial impropriety in this respect we saw and heard last Thursday afternoon in the Cooper Union Hall. A clergyman was advocating the so-called "Religious Amendment" to the Constitution. He said the Constitution was once regarded as a sacred instrument, and to alter it a sacrilege, But it has been amended sixteun men, equal rights, "and now," ex-
